

As a Warden here at St. Andrew's, I have seen first-hand the many ways we have contributed both to our church and to the community.

During the past 2 1/2 years, we have been challenged in many different ways. At the beginning of the pandemic we weren't able to worship together so we needed to come up with a plan to continue our services. We were able to invest in technology and continued our worship every week.

Now the new challenge for many of us is inflation and a turbulent market. This year St. Andrew's lost our two tenants and we must find new ways to recoup the lost income. I am, however, pleased that we as a congregation have been able to continue to make our financial gifts to sustain our ministry.

This year we have a campaign theme called More Than Enough, which refers to Luke and the feeding of the five-thousand. Even though the crowd didn't have much to contribute, they were able to turn out their pockets and find what was needed for the community.

To keep St. Andrew's going, we are going to need to draw on the time and talent from everyone. We also need your financial support. The times we have shared at St. Andrew's are gifts worth celebrating and sharing with our neighbors. I am asking each of you to carefully consider your pledge this year, both to sustain our ministry and to be able to help in our community. If we all work together, we can have More Than Enough too.
